Published from fourteen cities simultaneously this morning

Each issue the same everywhere except the local sections, and brim-full of the week's happenings, flashed by wire from all parts of the country up to going to press.

The big events of the week featured in national editorials contributed by telegraph by fourteen editors throughout the country up to midnight Friday, shaped-up by Samuel Hopkins Adams and his associates in New York, and telegraphed back to all the branches, for publication this morning.

Ridgway's is the newest thing in modern journalism. It is published by twentieth century methods for twentieth century people. Edited by telegraph, and in your hands a few hours after going to press. It is an epitome of the vital important things that concern the nation and you, with their real significance made clear.

The magazine section is good. There are excellent stories, well illustrated, several articles, plenty of humor of the sort that lingers

The illustrations are a big feature. 16 pages of half-tones, printed on super paper, depicting the important national and local occurrences in Business, Politics, Finance, Sports, Society and the

W. Gilmore Beynner contributes a brilliant short story, "The Left Handed House," splendidly illustrated.

William Travers Jerome, New York's District Attorney, writes an answer to an absorbing question, Is the Political Boss Doomed?

Joseph Conrad begins his great serial story, "The Secret Agent," a story that will interest and fascinate.

Martin Egan conducts the Washington Bureau with a big staff of editors, contributing the latest news from the capital. Every department of the government service under review by alert and able

There are 4 pages on national topics of the week, 4 pages of national editorials, 8 pages of local happenings in your district, 16 pages illustrating current events, 8 pages from the Washington Bureau, 4 pages of humor, with additional pages of general articles and sketches, making 64 pages in all.
